

KRCB TELEVISION AND ANNIE MURPHY SPRINGER are co-producing a new and exciting public television series:

W.O.W. THE WONDERS OF WATERCOLOR !

This new series focuses on the beautiful scenes of Sonoma County and Northern California and features Annie teaching interesting things outdoors with paint, materials, and a few funny words!

The series is unfolding in three phases: the first series of 7 short 90 second lessons are now being aired on a number of (non-profit) PBS stations. Donations are needed to complete phase two- a half-hour pilot film. And finally, depending on donor/underwriter support, phase three will consist of a 13 week series of half-hour programs!

YOUR donations are needed to make this exciting series a reality!

*YES! I/We appreciate this opportunity to support local public television, showcase our special businesses, organizations and scenery.
